—The attorney-general has given a decision in regard to the effect of a presidential pardon that is likely to result in a considerable depletion of the treasury.

—Dr. Dabney, author of Stonewall Jackson's biography, censures Gen. Joseph E. Johnston's denial of the practicability of going to Washington, after the battle of Manassas, in a seven-column newspaper article, full of testimony from subordinate officers, and ends by saying: "All I can say is, that I have heard him say what I have stated."

—James Ferguson, of Benham, Texas, wishing to commit suicide, recently went into a graveyard and cut his throat.

INTERESTING TO LADIES.

New York and Paris Fashions for June.

From Madame Demorest's Mirror of Fashion, for June.

One of the styles of morning dress is of dotted muslin, the skirt made narrow at the top, and with a single deep flounce, edged with a plain hem, and put on with but little fullness. High body, edged round the throat, and down the front, with narrow Valenciennes lace, and wide, open sleeves, with a short puffed undersleeve at the top.

Another style of morning dress is of white French print, dotted with black. This skirt also is made with a deep flounce, trimmed with three rows of very narrow black vine leaf bordering, which accompanies the dress. The flounce is headed by a strip of the same. The belt, and the body, which is made with a deep pointed yoke, are trimmed to match. The sleeves are shaped, and trimmed down the back, and upon the cuffs.

A third style of morning dress (gored) is of plain blue cambric, trimmed with white braid in two rows, to similate a tunic, and with three round the bottom of the long skirt. The body is trimmed across the shoulders, descending in points, back and front. Sleeves flowing, and edged with three rows of braid to match the skirt. White crotchet buttons down the entire front of the dress.

Walking dress of lilac-striped mobair, the long skirt scalloped out round the bottom, and edged with a black silk braid, which is carried up between every scallop, and separates them. Short sac, the edge finished to match the skirt.

Short walking dress of light gray mohair, with small paletot, ornamented with plaiting of blue silk. This plaiting edges the skirt and paletot, ornaments the tops of the sleeves, and descends upon the front of the skirt. The petticoat is similated by a band of mohair, trimmed with lengthwise straps of blue silk.

Carriage dress of chene silk, dove color, with gold dots. It is cut in the empire style, with a very long train, and worn with a black lace burnouse, and bonnet of blue crape and lisse.

A dinner toilet dress for a young lady is of white muslin, with high tucked bodice, and long Grecian sleeves, trimmed with lace. Around the bottom of the skirt is a narrow flounce, also edged with lace. A peplum of blue and white striped silk, trimmed with narrow folds of blue satin, small blue silk tassels and narrow fringe of pearl or crystal beads.

A simple evening dress is made of tulle, puffed over a stiff net skirt closely gored; the puffings are divided by rouleaux of violet satin, edged with narrow blonde. The corslet, with basque at the back, is of violet satin, edged with white bead fringe; and the coiffure of violets, with a single white camelia.

Another evening dress is of white striped gauze de chambery, the skirt edged with a flounce, which is headed by two rouleaux of maize-colored satin. A maize satin tunic cut in points at the sides, and round at the back, where it is deepest, is edged with white and gold satin, made into a twisted cord. The points are finished with gold-colored tassels. A tulle scarf, dotted with gold, commences underneath the upper skirt, and is tied in a wide bow, with floating ends, low upon the skirt below.

The new round hats are very similar to the old mosquetaire shape, only smaller. The crown is low and slightly oval, the brim narrow and rolled.

The very latest is the chignon hat. It is in fine English straw, and has a narrow brim, which rolls up decidedly at the back, but runs off very narrow in front, where it descends low upon the forehead. Scarfs of lisse, tulle, or lace, are very general upon the round hat.

[The above are the prevailing modes in New York. The following are Parisienne, copied from a London paper:]

China crepe has once more come into vogue, and it has happened in this wise: As shawls have not been much worn of late, some ladies had their Chinese shawls cut up into peplums, with large sleeves. Crepe drapes so well that on its reappearance in this form it was at once taken into favor, and even crepe shawls are to be seen now occasionally.

There are as many shapes in paletots as there are in bonnets, but the latest novelties in outdoor covering is the peplum-imperatrice. Imagine a large talma with pointed ends at each side, hollowed out at the back and with no sleeves. This peplum is made in both black and white cashmere, and is trimmed all round with gimp and narrow guipure. Sometimes black velvet studded with jet, and narrow cluny edging round the velvet, is substituted for the gimp. Two long ends commence at the top of the back of the peplum and fall several inches below it; they terminate with points. The peplum-imperatrice will be popular at the seaside and spas.

Peplums made entirely of cluny lace are likewise of the same form, and they are bordered all around with narrow cluny edging to match. Dresses of cluny lace worn over either blue or cerise silk, and made with both high and low bodices, with peplums, to match, are to be seen both at the theaters and at fashionable dinner parties. Mme. de Metternich wore the first of these cluny dresses over a maize silk petticoat, and a wide maize sash covered with bouquets at the back. Yellow, strange to say, is the favored color of this very elegant princess, and she has succeeded in making some of its shades fashionable. Her carriages are painted a gold-yellow, and the Marchioness of Gallifet has of late adopted the same shade for her equipages. The princess de Metternich very frequently wears black and yellow dresses—the Austrian colors—and the last time I saw her the dress she wore had a most original effect. The silk petticoat was the golden yellow shade, and it was pleated round the edge in horizontal instead of perpendicular lines, as is usual. Over this petticoat there was a black silk tunic, divided into two parts; it was round at the back, and was trimmed with black silk gimp richly worked with gold beads. The small and very short paletot had Hungarian sleeves to it, and these were lined with golden yellow silk. They opened sufficiently to show the narrow undersleeves, likewise of yellow silk, which were closed to the wrist. The paletot was trimmed to match the tunic with black gimp, worked with gold beads.

The Hungarian sleeves, which are straight and open to the top of the arm, and slashed together again with silk cord, are very stylish. As the narrow coat sleeves are worn under them, many who are economically inclined are remodeling their old paletots with this novel sleeve. This cannot be done with the other new sleeve, the Galilee, which is wide, but requires no narrow one beneath it.

STATE ITEMS.

—The American Union of Sunday says the business of Chattanooga for the past week has been most insufferably dull, and general stagnation appears to have taken complete control of the city.

—Z. M. Taylor, of Clarksville, offers to be one of one hundred to give a hundred dollars each to build a Masonic, Odd-Fellows, Temperance and City hall, on the site of the old Masonic hall, to be worth ten thousand dollars when completed.

—Tuesday night nine prisoners escaped from the workhouse at Nashville.

—The Nashville Union and Dispatch says that a young man whose name had been published as one of the fallen Confederate soldiers on the sanguinary field of Murfreesboro, and whose funeral had been preached about a year ago, suddenly appeared to his friends at the old homestead, a day or two since, arriving just in time to claim his share of the estate which was to have been divided among the heirs in a few days. He had been in California all the time his friends were mourning him as dead, and came back as robust and healthy as when he left his home as a soldier.

—A letter from Gallatin contains this encouraging paragraph: During a trip to the country yesterday we had an opportunity to see large fields of growing wheat. They were, without exception, very luxuriant, and almost ready for the reaper. Indeed, we noticed one fruitful field, a part of which had been already cut. It will be a blessed thing for the poor when the golden grain is brought to market. The present famine prices of flour are grinding their faces terribly.

—Judge Walker, of Pulaski, is at Nashville.

—The Union and Dispatch of the 30th says: There are now 402 convicts in the penitentiary—the largest number of prisoners ever held in that institution at any one time.

The same journal says the radical Bilbo is to address his fellow-citizens at the capitol, to-night. The speech, it is said, will be a dissection of Etheridge and everything conservative.

—Chief Justice Chase has appointed John E. Peebles register in bankruptcy for the eighth district of this state.

—T. H. Rainey, knight of the silver star, carried off the first prize, at the Clarksville tournament, on the 29th inst. Gen. Basil Duke was not present, as expected, and there were no speeches on the occasion, though Gen. Quarles and Maj. Gus. Henry were there.

THE state department at Washington made public a Chinese history of the United States, which was written by Sen-Ki-Yu, during the time he was governor of Fuh-Kien, from 1844 to 1850. A high tribute is paid to Washington, as the founder of the country, and its mild institutions, which is even compared to a feature of the celestial government. The daring author was deposed for his pains by the emperor in 1850, but through the influence of Mr. Williams, late charge of the United States at Pekin, he was subsequently recalled, and given a position in the foreign office of the government.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The nineteenth is already most conspicuous among the centuries for those great inventions which minister to the wants of mankind. Three-tenths of it still remains; and the leaders of progress in science and the arts are more numerous and active than ever before. It is certainly far from impossible that many who are now living may witness products of genius yet unthought of, which, for usefulness, may be ranked with the locomotive, the telegraph and the photograph. Indeed, we are not visionary in believing that we are already advancing into the shadow of something which may be as admirable and useful as any of them. Recent advances in science seem to indicate plainly the path which promises to lead to one of the most beneficent developments.

It has been demonstrated that what we call light, heat and electricity, and supposed to be peculiar kinds of matter, are, after all, only forms or modes of motion; that the motions which constitute their peculiarities have no greater differences among themselves than the motions of our ordinary machines. It has been demonstrated that they may be converted into each other—that either of them may be converted into ordinary motion—and, conversely, that ordinary motion may be converted into either of them. In other words, their production and operation involve simple questions of mechanics. The precise amount of mechanical force required to produce heat and electricity have been exactly and mathematically determined. Thus, the force of the falling of a weight of one pound a distance of 772 feet will produce heat just sufficient to raise a pound of water one degree Fahrenheit. This exact transformation of falling force into heat may be accomplished with the greatest ease. The converse, however, we have not yet reached in practice. In our attempts by the steam engine to get heat into ordinary useful motion, we practically realize only about five per cent. of what we strive after. It is possible that, before the nineteenth century closes, we shall learn how to secure all, or nearly all, of that ninety-five per cent. which now escapes us. When we have that knowledge, one pound of fuel which we use for generating power may have its present value multiplied nearly twenty fold.

The labors of scientific men, within the last five years, have developed methods of transforming ordinary force into electricity. When these methods are put into the most practical form, we shall have electricity so cheap that its applications may be multiplied a hundred fold.

Practical results have not been so fully obtained in attempts to transform mechanical force into light. But what we know is sufficient to fill us with the most exalted expectations. The possibilities are too bright even for dreams. The precise amount of force required to produce a given degree of light has not been determined, mainly for the reason that it is so small that eludes our measurement. It is asserted by savans that the strength of a child would be sufficient to turn night into day for the city of New York, provided that strength were wholly converted into, and should reappear as, light. May not this be accomplished in the nineteenth century?

But, concerning electric light, wonderful things are already accomplished facts. We have transformed force into light through the medium of electricity, and the process has been a success. Such a light promises to come, ere long, into general use.

Through experiments in France and England, and official arrangements for tests in the United States, indicate the importance attached to electricity for illuminating lighthouses. The results at Cape La Heve on the French, and at Dungeness on the British coast, prove that, in clear weather, the electric light is visible seven miles further (27 miles against 20) than the best lights ever before shown at those points; while its advantages are still greater in thick weather, as its density, whiteness and brilliancy enable it to penetrate fogs that almost totally obscure other lights. The successful experiments of the French lighthouse board, corroborated by the British experiments, may well encourage our American lighthouse board in the tests about to be instituted in this country, especially as the difficulities which cause the British authorities to hesitate about introducing the electric light generally along their coasts ("lest their heavy machinery might break down") are understood to have been overcome by inventions of American genius.

It may be added that the brilliancy of the electric light will actually throw shadows from the flames of street lamps on a wall distant about 1500 feet, and that it surpasses sunlight in photographing—effecting the object in one-third of the time required by Sol himself. Some of the British photographers now use the electric light as light for much of their work, especially for copying and enlarging pictures—a profitable part of their business.

The occasional working of the Atlantic cable (both being thrown into one circuit of nearly 5000 miles) by the infinitesimally small battery in a lady's thimble has so utterly revolutionized the notions of electricians and telegraphers concerning the power required for working that vast telegraphic circuit, that intelligent people are now scarcely surprised at the latest assertions concerning the illimitable resources for cheaply generating electric light, and the quality of that light compared with solar light.

The electrical display on top of the Massachusetts state house one fourth of July night, which shed a flood of light that enabled people to read newspapers on Boston common, was useful in indicating what may be profitably done by apparatus less clumsy and less costly. So also with the "weighty machinery" that produces brilliant results in fog or clear weather off the Dungeness lighthouse on the British coast. Simplify and cheapen the mode of effecting such results, and what is there to prevent the general use of electricity in producing light? Why should not our streets and our harbors, our factories and workshops, our offices and our homes, be thus brilliantly and cheaply illuminated, now that American scientific skill has devised certain modes of producing electric light which are claimed to be "more economical and more effective than any of the methods hitherto employed?"

We scarcely open a foreign scientific journal without finding allusions to various uses for which electric light are employed, or about to be employed. One of the latest papers says that one of these lights is arranged for service on board the Prince Jerome, Prince Napoleon's yacht—not to illuminate the vessel itself, but, on the contrary, to throw light on other objects, such as a vessel, or a coast, for purposes of attack or defense. For such uses, especially in case of fog, this light promises to prove very valuable, as ships at full speed, or lying-to, or at anchorage, can thus be kept free from danger of collisions, and, in battle, the object to be attacked can be illuminated. "However late in the field of practical adaptation," says the London Chemical News, "the electric light, once established on board of a vessel, will become a necessary adjunct to the marine and transport service," and invaluable on board of the fleet passenger steamers. "The illumination of this same light for railways, at the stations, and the approaches thereto, at curves, and otherwise," says a Parisian writer, "has been the order of the day, and the subject of deep study for some weeks past;" and the experiments on the East railway of France are said to have been "so successful, that there is reason to expect the best results." Why may not this new light be advantageously used on locomotives?

Multitudinous ways will be found for employing a light so powerful, and so easily and cheaply generated; and, profiting by experience of "the way they do these things in France" and in England, our American inventors, who claim to have devised still better methods, can hardly fail to meet prompt and proper attention from people who are annoyed and over-taxed by the effluvia and extortion of the gas companies.

OUR PLATFORM.

LOYALTY to the Union of the STATES: FIDELITY to the Constitution in its true extent and meaning: Obedience to and maintenance of all laws, State and National, constitutionally enacted.

RESISTANCE to Tyranny, Usurpation and Oppression, of one man or many; and to all encroachments upon the rights of freemen or of States, or upon the just and Constitutional prerogatives of any Department of the State or National Governments.

RESTORATION of disfranchised citizens to all rights and privileges of which they have been disseized.

PERPETUAL ASSURANCE to the colored race of all the rights of freemen.

NO REPUDIATION by State or Nation of any honest debt.

NO ESTABLISHMENT of Military Despotisms, no enthroning of martial law, no suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus, no slaying of citizens by Military Commissions, no lettres de cachet, in time of peace.

STRICT SUBORDINATION of the Military to the Civil Power.

NO STANDING ARMIES of States in time of peace.

APPROVAL of the efforts of the President to prevent the annihilation of civil liberty by the revolutionizing of the Government, and to restore the Union of the States; and of all that he has done to defend the Constitution and to maintain the rightful supremacy of the civil law; and charity and allowance for what he has left undone or done amiss.

THE DUTY OF LOYALTY.

God has imposed it on man as his highest duty, that he shall be loyal to Truth and to Liberty. He who is not is the guiltiest of traitors. To this, all loyalty to a Sovereign, a party or a Government is subservient, and becomes, when the two conflict, sycophancy and servility. To hate Falsehood and Tyranny is the highest of all duties; and he who compounds with either is damned before his death, if, indeed, his soul survives his body, when tainted with the leprosy of so great a baseness. Ignoble compliances infect and rot the soul; and mental cretinism is contagious.

The Loyalty and Allegiance of every American Citizen are due to the Constitution; and this loyalty is confirmed and enforced by the oath of allegiance, which is neither to King or Congress, but to support, protect and defend the Constitution. Nothing can release a man from the duty of hating and opposing despotism, and especially that despotism of snobs, which has not even a plausible pretence of authority by Divine right. To obey a despotism, when it can be successfully resisted, is a crime. Voluntarily to accept base men as masters is a hideous degradation.

For many long years, Emperors and Kings were deemed to reign by divine right; and loyalty and faithful service to them were held to be religious duties. It is not long, no longer ago than 1776, since the great new principle was established that "institutions are made for men, and not men for institutions." It is not a hundred years since Loyalty and Allegiance to Truth, Principle and Constitutional Liberty were substituted in the stead of Loyalty to Thrones; and already, in the very land where this immense revolution was wrought, it is claimed that loyalty to the popular will, however unreasonable and tyrannical it may be, shall be substituted for loyalty to the Constitution. Compared to the old heroic loyalty to the monarch, this slavishness is the adulation of the Kamschatkan idol instead of that of the Olympic JUPITER.

We have said heretofore, and we repeat, that whenever a despotism is established over a people before free, whether as the issue of fraud, usurpation or conquest, there is no duty of Loyalty or Allegiance to the Tyranny of Force. GOD has forbidden it. It is a crime against His law; and the parasites of all such tyrannies are the enemies of the human race. Those who obey the tyranny and submit to the force are not criminal and dishonoured, only when resistance would be unavailing, and unsuccessful rebellion would strengthen and consolidate the despotism.

Allegiance and protection are reciprocal; and that protection means the securing to the governed the free possession and full enjoyment of all their human and constitutional rights.

When the Anglo-American Colonies rebelled against the Crown, they declared in the most emphatic terms the great principle, that the adoption of a system of tyranny, the establishment of a despotism, by the sovereign, is a forfeiture of all his rights to the loyalty and allegiance of the subject. These principles are the supreme law of the United States. They, at least, cannot repudiate them, or hold them to be erroneous; for upon them the foundations of their constitutional liberty repose. If they are not of eternal and absolute truth, the revolt of the Colonies was a crime, and the guilt of treason clung to the souls of the Fathers until the last moment of their lives. To repudiate these principles is to dishonour the memory of our great dead, and to crown the names of the Tories of the revolution with aureoles of glory.

'A King,' said PATRICK HENRY, in the Parson's case, in 1763, "who annuls or disallows laws of so salutary a nature, from being the father of his people, degenerates into a tyrant, and forfeits all right to obedience." Thus he struck the key-note of the American Revolution. The opposing counsel cried aloud to the Bench, "The gentleman has spoken treason." Royalists in the crowd raised a confused murmur of "Treason! Treason! Treason!" "The harrangue," one of the hearers thought, "exceeds the most inflammatory of the most seditious Tribunes of Rome." It was the first announcement of a great principle, destined, before it stops, to go round the world. Whoso that governs, whether King or Congress, and abuses power, forfeits the right to exact obedience from the subject. It is the same doctrine that was announced by SAMUEL ADAMS, when he commenced Master of Arts at Cambridge, and affirmed that "it is lawful to resist the Chief Magistrate, if the Commonwealth cannot otherwise be preserved:" and DYER, of Connecticut, acted on it in 1764, when he wrote home from England, "if the Colonies do not now unite, they may bid farewell to liberty, burn their charters, and make the best of thraldom."

"If taxes are laid upon us in any shape," the town of Boston said to its representatives, in the same year, "without our having a legal representative where they are laid, are we not reduced from the character of free subjects to the miserable state of tributary slaves? This annihilates our charter-right to govern and tax ourselves. We claim British rights, not by charter only; we are born to them."

To-day, while ten Southern States have no legal representation where the taxes are laid, they are oppressed with a Stamp Act, a tax on incomes, and a tax on cotton, infinitely more unjust than the British duty on tea; and Boston helps to load them with this burthen, and holds the people of the South as "tributary slaves."

The 'State of the case,' a memorial to the House, prepared in 1764 by JAMES OTIS, said, "The authority of the Parliament of Great Britain is circumscribed by bounds, which if exceeded, their acts become mere power without right, and consequently void. . . Acts of Parliament against natural Equity are void. Acts against the fundamental principles of the British institutions are void." Massachusetts to-day concurs in establishing an absolute military despotism over ten peaceful States; the President solemnly declares void and unconstitutional this "Act against the fundamental principles of the American institutions,"—and, executes it to the letter! In 1764 the Massachusetts Assembly demanded: "Can it be possible that duties and taxes shall be assessed without the voice or consent of an American Parliament? If we are not represented, we are slaves." "Ireland," they said, "was a conquered country, yet no duties have been levied by the British Parliament on Ireland."

JAMES OTIS said, "There can be no prescription old enough to supersede the law of nature and the grant of GOD Almighty, who has given all men a right to be free. If every Prince since NIMROD had been a tyrant, it would not prove a right to tyrannize. The administrators of legislative and executive authority, when they verge towards tyranny, are to be resisted; if they prove incorrigible, are to be deposed. . . Liberty is the gift of GOD, and cannot be annihilated. . . Ministerial oppression will make the wisest mad and the weakest strong.

In 1765, when Parliament was about to enact the Stamp Act, the supremacy of the military power over the civil in America, was proclaimed, and a precedent furnished, to be imitated by the United States in 1867. The Continent was divided into a Northern and Southern district, each with its Brigadier, besides a Commander-in-Chief for the whole; and the King commanded "that the orders of his Commander-in-Chief, and under him of the Brigadiers-General commanding in the Northern and Southern Departments, in all military matters, should be supreme, and be obeyed by the troops as such, in all the civil governments of America." Only in the absence of the General and Brigadiers, the Civil Governor might give the word.

"The Colonies," said the Press of New York, just before the Stamp Act became a law, "may from present weakness submit to the impositions of ministerial power; but they will certainly hate that power as tyrannical, and, as soon as they are able, will throw it off." OTIS declared that it was the duty of all "humbly and silently to acquiesce in all the decisions of the Supreme Legislature," when the Stamp Act was passed; and JOHN ADAMS censured this 'fatal acquiescence' as a surrender of their liberties. "Tyranny is no Government," the people declared: "We are not bound to yield obedience," the freemen of Providence voted. "The people," JOHN ADAMS said, "have rights antecedent to all earthly government,—rights that cannot be repealed or restrained by human laws,—rights derived from the Great Legislator of the Universe. . . . We have an indisputable right to demand our privileges against all the power and authority on earth."

"To require submission to an act," the Legislature of Massachusetts declared, "as a preliminary to granting relief from the unconstitutional burthens of it, supposes such a wanton exercise of mere arbitrary power, as ought never to be surmised of the patrons of liberty and justice."

"Protection and allegiance," argued JOHN ADAMS, in December, 1765, "are reciprocal. If we are out of the King's protection, we are discharged from allegiance. The ligaments of government are dissolved, the throne abdicated." OTIS, quoting GROTIUS, and the English lawyers of 1688, assured the public, that "If a King lets the affairs of a State run into disorder and confusion, his conduct is a real abdication" and that unless business should proceed as usual, there "would be a release of subjects from their allegiance." "None," said the Press of Philadelphia, in words widely diffused, "in this day of liberty will say that duty binds us to yield obedience to any man or body of men, forming part of the British Constitution, when they exceed the limits prescribed by that Constitution. The Stamp-Act is unconstitutional, and no more obligatory than a decree of the Divan of Turkey."

"I rejoice," PITT said in Parliament, in 1766, "that America has resisted. If its millions of inhabitants had submitted, taxes would soon have been laid on Ireland; and if ever this Nation should have a tyrant for its King, six millions of freemen, so dead to all the feelings of liberty, as voluntarily to submit to be slaves, would be fit instruments to make slaves of the rest."

"Every act of Parliament," said RICHARD BLAND, of the Old Dominion, "that imposes internal taxes upon the Colonies, is an act of power and not of right; and power abstracted from right cannot give a just title to dominion. . . . Every Colony, when treated with injury and violence, is become an alien to its Mother-State."

The Parliament of 1767 esteemed itself the absolute master of America, as the Congress of 1867 esteemed itself the absolute master of the Southern States; "and recognizing no reciprocity of obligations, it thought nothing so wrong as thwarting the execution of its will. It did not doubt its own superiority of intelligence, and to maintain its authority and reduce every refractory body to obedience, appeared to it the perfection of statesmanship."

"We can grant nothing to the Americans," said Lord HILLSBOROUGH, in 1769, "except what they may ask with a halter round their necks." "They are a race of Convicts," said Doctor JOHNSON, "and ought to be thankful for anything we allow them short of hanging." Governor HUTCHINSON wanted the law of Treason extended, so as to render every considerable man in Boston liable to its penalties. He wished it made treasonable to deny the authority of Parliament. "There must be," he said, "an abridgement of what are called English liberties." The year 1867 reproduces the opinions of 1769, and combines with them the political code of Venice and the Duke of ALVA, administered by arrogant Generals, who legislate by the bayonet.

"Let Slavery exist nowhere among us," said CHATHAM, in 1770, "for whether it be in America or Ireland, or here at home, you will find it a disease which spreads by contact, and soon reaches from the extremity to the heart." Never was a wiser utterance of inspiration. The despotism established by the Northern over the Southern States has already prepared the North to submit to a Military Dictator. The spirit of Republicanism in the Northern States is dead. From Negro Suffrage to the Empire is but a short step; and those who have established the former mean that the step shall be taken.

"Power without right," CHATHAM continued, is a thing hateful in itself, and ever inclining to its fall. Tyranny is detestable in every shape; but in none so formidable as when it is assumed and exercised by a number of tyrants.

In 1773 it was proposed to give the infant commonwealth of Illinois a form of Government which vested all powers in the executive officers of the Crown. The fathers of the Commonwealth rejected it as oppressive and absurd, saying in their protest, "Should a Government so evidently tyrannical be established, it could be of no long duration; there would exist the necessity of its being abolished."

When the Boston Port bill began to be enforced, in June, 1774, SAMUEL ADAMS said, of Boston, "She suffers with dignity, and rather than submit to the humiliating terms of an edict, barbarous beyond precedent under the most absolute monarchy, she will put the malice of tyranny to the severest trial * * * An empire is rising in America; and Britain by her multiplied oppressions, is accelerating that independency which she dreads. We have a post to maintain, to desert which would entail upon us the curses of posterity." Were these words spoken that they might, after the lapse of near a hundred years, inspire those who are subjected to oppressions infinitely more barbarous than those under which Boston languished? That was the time when the planters of South Carolina shipped the first gifts of rice for the poor of Boston, and CHRISTOPHER GADSDEN wrote: "Don't pay for an ounce of the damned tea;" and plausible speakers, like the ORRS and PATTONS, ventured to recommend for consideration the manner of paying for the tea, to open the way, WARREN said, for every compliance even to a total submission; and the blockade, the fleets and the army could not bring out even a symptom of compliance.

In the great debate in the House of Lords, in January, 1775, Lord CAMDEN said, "It is as lawful to resist the tyranny of many as of one. Somebody once asked the great SELDEN in what book you might find the law for resisting tyranny. 'It has always been the custom of England,' answered SELDEN, 'and the custom of England is the law of the land.'"

In the same year, ALEXANDER HAMILTON wrote, "Civil liberty cannot be wrested from any people without the most manifold violation of justice, and the most aggravated guilt. The Nations Turkey, Russia, France, Spain, and all other despotic Kingdoms in the world, have an inherent right, whenever they please, to shake off the yoke of servitude, though sanctioned by immemorial usage, and to model their government upon the principles of civil liberty."

In February, 1775, JOHN ADAMS said, "Resistance by arms against usurpation and lawless violence, is not rebellious, by the law of God or of the land. Resistance to lawful authority makes rebellion. HAMPDEN, RUSSELL, SYDNEY, HOLT, SOMERS, TILLOTSON, were no rebels. If an act of Parliament is null and void, it is lawful to resist it." And FRANKLIN said to Lord NORTH, what ought never to be forgotten: "They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety, deserve neither liberty nor safety." In the same month he wrote these words to JAMES BOWDOIN of Boston: "Our honour as a people is become a matter of the utmost consequence. If we tamely give up our rights in this contest, a century to come will not restore us, in the opinion of the world; we shall be stamped with the character of dastards, poltroons and fools; and be despised and trampled upon, not by this haughty, insolent Nation only, but by all mankind. Present inconveniences are, therefore, to be borne with fortitude, and better times expected." The honour of that people is not now a matter of quite so much consequence. Now, it is very willing to establish a despotism over other people, and is eager to hang those who only followed the example set them by Boston in 1775; only, it was a tax that was to cost their pockets a little money, that stirred New England to Revolution, as it was an embargo not forty years after, that curtailed these pecuniary profits, which caused it virtually to revel against the General Government, by directly giving aid and comfort to the public enemy; and in 1861 the South fought for a great constitutional principle, into the consideration of which no sordid calculations of dollars and cents entered. It never rebelled because New England plundered it with a tariff, a thousand times more than King and Parliament depleted the pocket of the people of Massachusetts Bay.

Virginia spoke as manfully as Massachusetts. "We cannot part with liberty, but with our lives," said the inhabitants of Botetourt. "Our duty to GOD, our Country, ourselves, and our posterity, all forbid it. We stand prepared for every contingency." "For my part," said ADAM STEPHENS, "before I would submit my life, liberty and property to the arbitrary disposal of a venal aristocracy, I would set myself down with a few friends, upon some rich and wealthy spot, six hundred miles to the westward, and there form a settlement, which in a short time would command attention and respect."

Is a snob oligarchy any better than a venal aristocracy? Is it any more respectable to be ridden until our backs are galled, by WILSON, SUMNER, CHANDLER, NYE, of Nevada, POMEROY, of Kansas, God knows who from Oregon, THAD. STEVENS, the back-window hero of the buck-shot war, than it was for the Colonies to be domineered over by NORTH, DUNDAS, WEDDERBURN, SANDWICH and others, who were at least gentlemen? Better we should all seek another country, and leave the ruined South to the negroes and their paramours, than to submit to what every duty forbids. Now, however, liberty is a good thing to have, if it can be had cheap; but if we can make money instead, it answers quite as well.

Might we not endure something, also, rather than submit to the exactions of insolent tyranny. In March, 1775, the Colonies did not desire independence or a separation from Great Britain. Then SAMUEL ADAMS wrote to Virginia, "See what indignities we suffer, rather than precipitate a crisis;" and "the soldiers seemed encouraged to provoke the people, that they might have some color for beginning hostilities." It was at the same time, that Dr. SAMUEL JOHNSON said, "How is it that we hear the loudest yelps for liberty among the drivers of negroes? The slaves should be set free; they may be more grateful and honest than their masters." New England has now acted on his advice. The same clumsy Titan of literature cried, "Nothing can be more noxious to society than clemency which exacts no forfeiture,"—which is the very doctrine now urged in a diluted form, by those who still wish to enjoy the luxury of having President DAVIS hung. At the same time, JOHN WESLEY assailed the Colonies. One truth, however, at least, he uttered. He said, "No governments under heaven are so despotic as the republican; no subjects are governed in so arbitrary a manner as those of a Commonwealth. The people never but once in all history gave the Sovereign power, and that was to MASANIELLO of Naples."

In March, 1775, EDMUND BURKE said, in the House of Commons, in words as eloquent as their wisdom was profound: "As long as you have the wisdom to keep the sovereign authority of this country as the sanctuary of liberty, the sacred temple consecrated to our common faith, wherever the chosen race and sons of England worship freedom, they will turn their faces toward you. The more they multiply, the more friends you will have; the more ardently they love liberty, the more perfect will be their obedience. Slavery they can have anywhere. It is a weed that grows in every soil. But until you become lost to all feeling of your true interest and your natural dignity, freedom they can have from none but you. . . Deny them this participation of freedom, you break the unity of the Empire."

Have those who now hold the powers of government and are engaged in utterly depriving ten States of all vestige of freedom, ever read these words of wisdom? If they have, they have read them in vain. To them, as to "the profane herd of those vulgar and mechanical politicians, who think that nothing exists but what is gross and material," who governed England in 1775, such words "sound wild and chimerical." For like those men, our rulers, "far from being qualified to be directors of the great movement of empire, are not fit to turn a wheel in the machine." Here, as there, "a great Empire and little minds go ill together."

When the people of Mecklenburg, in North Carolina, in May, 1775, received news of the declaration by Parliament that the Colonies were in a state of actual rebellion, the people proposed among themselves to abrogate all dependence on the royal authority. But the Militia Companies were sworn to allegiance; and "how," it was objected, "can we be absolved from our oath?" "THE OATH," it was answered, "BINDS ONLY WHERE THE KING PROTECTS."

"DEPRESSUS SURGAM," was the answer from Connecticut, in 1765, to a letter from a member of the New York Assembly, "may perhaps be a proper motto for America. These severities, instead of securing, as they are intended to do, the dependency of the Colonies, may perhaps fit us for, and hasten the period of a glorious independence upon everything but the blessing of Heaven . . . Now we ought to inculcate the principles of freedom, and we may hope that hereafter a glorious system of liberty may arise and flourish."

In 1775, ALEXANEER HAMILTON said, in a pamphlet entitled "The Farmer Refuted:" "You are mistaken when you confine arbitrary Government to a monarchy. It is not the supreme power being placed in one instead of many, that discriminates an arbitrary from a free Government. When any people are ruled by laws in framing which they have no part, that are to bind them to all intents and purposes, without in the same manner binding the Legislature themselves, they are, in the strictest sense, slaves, and the Government, with respect to them, is despotic; and hence the authority of Parliament over the Colonies would in all probability be a more intolerable and excessive species of despotism than the most absolute monarchy, as the temptation to abuse would be greater. * * * * When the first principles of civil society are violated, and the rights of a whole people are invaded, the common forms of municipal law are not to be regarded. Men may then betake themselves to the law of Nature; and if they but conform their actions to that standard, all cavils against them betray either ignorance or dishonesty."

STATE-RIGHTS AND STATE-SOVEREIGNTY.

Nothing can any longer astonish us, or we should be somewhat amazed to learn that the Radical Supreme Court of Missouri had planted itself squarely on the doctrine of State Sovereignty, which all the Radical Presses have been scouting at for two years, as exploded, dead, rotten and buried out of sight, never to be resuscitated. We may at least compliment the Court on its nerve and moral courage in asserting a doctrine pregnant with consequences so grave, and stamping as infamous so much that has been done by Congress. We copy from the St. Louis Republican:

The supreme court of Missouri, in the Blair-Ridgley opinion, has assumed a strong position as the defender of state sovereignty, asserting with unmistakable sincerity that the sovereignty of the United States is limited and derived, while that of the states is original and inherent, and limited only by the few powers which they surrendered to the United States. They remind us of the tenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, which provides that "the powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people." After quoting this historical and constitutional evidence that the United States government is the creature of the people of the different states, possessing not a power or attribute of sovereignty, greater or less, which the people of the states did not confer upon it, our radical judges proceed to say:

"The states, when they entered the union, retaining all their original power and sovereignty, except such as was expressly surrendered to the general government, or they were expressly prohibited from exercising. Subject to these exceptions, they are independent commonwealths, and the exclusive judges of what is just and proper for their own safety, welfare and happiness."

As the powers conferred by the people of the states upon the United States are very few in number, it is manifest that the "sovereignty" of the United States is limited in range compared with the sovereignty of the different states. The states are in fact, as our own radical judges assert, possessed of "original power and sovereignty," complete and unlimited, except so far as they bestowed certain powers upon the United States. Our orthodox judges assure us that they are "independent commonwealths," with the few exceptions named, and to make sure that they shall not be misunderstood, these immaculate and unsuspected radical gentlemen return again to the inherent "sovereignty" of the states, reinforcing themselves by a fresh draught at the fountain of history. They tell us that: "Prior to the adoption of the federal constitution, the respective states possessed unlimited and unrestricted sovereignty, and retained the same ever afterward except so far as they granted certain powers to the general government, or prohibited themselves from doing certain acts. Every state reserved to itself the exclusive right of regulating its own internal government and police." And still again, these gentlemen, whose political opinions are radically orthodox, impress upon the people in their exposition of fundamental law, that "the state is not to be presumed in any grant to part with any of the power inherent in it for the protection and promotion of the common welfare," except so far as certain powers are "expressly conceded" by the states to the United States. We are happy to chronicle these proofs, that in the estimation of orthodox high priests of the radical faith, it is not "rebellion" to assert the sovereignty and independence of the several states.

ARKANSAS ITEMS.

—A company of the 19th infantry, under Capt. Smith, eighty-three strong, arrived at Fort Smith from Fort Arbuckle, last Thursday. Maj. Pinckney Lugenbul, of the same regiment, is ordered to relieve Maj. Floyd Jones in the command of that post.

—The thermometer was down to 62° at Fort Smith last Friday. Very decidedly chilly for the season.

—On Tuesday night, at 11 o'clock, a mulatto was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year, and at 12, same night, he left for Little Rock on the Ozark, in custody of the sheriff. The Fort Smith Herald very properly calls this "quick work."

—Gen. Ord has issued a timely order "to preserve health and prevent as far as possible the prevalence of epidemics, in Arkansas, during the coming summer."

—The county court seal was stolen from the courthouse, at Fort Smith, last week.

—A great deal of counterfeit fractional currency is in circulation in Arkansas, and it is so well executed as to almost defy detection.

—The Pine Bluff Dispatch says the cotton and corn crops throughout that section, although a little late, yet look promising, and with a fair season will be good.

—The session of the circuit court of Jefferson county commenced, last Monday, with a very heavy docket—criminal, civil and in chancery.

—There is very great complaint everywhere in the state about the irregularity of the mails.

THE Court Journal relates a remarkable case of the ruling passion strong in death. A great pigeon fancier, whose birds had won more races than any in the district, was dying, and he had received great consolation from the minister. "I'll be sure to gang to heaven, oh minister?" he said. "Yes, I've no doubt about it, Johnny," said the minister, "you have repented of all your sin, and you have not been a very bad boy." "That's right; I've done nowt very bad, and I'se repented of it all; and I'll be a hangel, minister?" continued the coillier, raising himself up in bed. "Yes, Johnny, and have wings." "And will ye come to heaven soon day?" the collier went on, "I hope so, Johnny," said the minister. "And will ye be a hangel, and ha'e wings?" "Yes, please God," said the minister. "Ay, mon, that's grand! " exclaimed Johnny, "I'll fly thee for a sovereign."

A NUMBER of the Institute Journal supplies us with some recent cases of the fall of the aerolites. At Trensana, near Brescia, in Lombardy, there fell on the 12th of November, 1856, one which weighed 17 lbs. At Fort Peter, in the territory of Nebraska, North America, a piece of "meteoric iron" was found in 1858, weighing 30 lbs; it was sent to the academy at St. Louis. The museum at Austin, the capital of Texas, possesses a mass weighing 320 lbs., composed of 89.9 of iron and 10.1 of nickel; it is an object of superstitious veneration to the Indians. The same museum has a fragment of another aerolite, weighing 12½ lbs., consisting of 94 parts of iron, 3½ of nickel, with traces of cobalt. On the 1st of May, 1860, there was in Ohio actually a shower of aerolites, which fell with violent detonation in the three counties of Guernsey, Harrison and Belmont. One block weighed 103 lbs.; several weighed from 40 to 60 lbs., and the weight of the whole was estimated at 700 lbs. But the most extraordinary of these bodies is one which was found buried in the soil near Rogue's river, in Oregon, by John Evans, a gold-seeker. Its weight is not given; probably it is still embedded in the earth; but is said to surpass in size the famous mass of meteoric iron discovered by Pallas in Siberia, which weighed 1400 lbs. A fragment of the Oregon aerolite sent to Boston, was found to contain 10½ per cent. of nickel combined with the iron.

THE cattle plague is raging in Holland with renewed fury, necessitating a great destruction of animals. In one district there was such a strong opposition by the peasants, who had a religious objection to the destruction of the cattle, that the soldiers were obliged to fire, by which two men were killed and two more wounded.

CONDENSED DECISIONS

—OF THE—

SUPREME COURT OF TENNESSEE.

JACKSON: MAY TERM, 1867.

REPORTED FOR THE APPEAL BY H. CLAY KING, Esq.

No. 10.—Owen & McNutt vs. Iglauer & Pritz. From Memphis Law Court. Decision in Supreme Court, Jackson, May 27th, 1867.

Facts: Order drawn by Mrs. E. A. Woodren on her commission merchants, Owen & McNutt, at Memphis, in favor of Iglauer & Pritz, to pay out of proceeds of her cotton $211 64, dated 18th March, 1865. The acceptance was as follows: "Accepted when we have funds on hand from the sale of her cotton. Owen & McNutt." The drawer had consigned cotton to the acceptors, to be shipped to St. Louis for sale—six bales—on which Owen & McNutt had advanced previous to the 18th of March, 1865. There was no advances after acceptance, except the cost of shipment. It was supposed that the proceeds would pay all advances and the acceptance. The nett proceeds were $829; the amount of advancements was $868 62. Iglauer & Pritz sued Owen & McNutt on the acceptance, and received the amount thereof. Held: That in cases of this kind the rule is, "where advances have been made by the factor upon produce consigned to him, he may retain for his advances made upon the consignment; but he would have no right in such cases to apply the fund to a debt which had not been made in the shape of advances and for which he had no lien." According to the above rule, the meaning of this acceptance is that the acceptor would pay when he had funds arising from the sale of this cotton more than sufficient to pay the advances made on this cotton. The fund not being sufficient the acceptors are not liable; and the judgment below is reversed. According to the authorities cited, the same rule applies when the language of the acceptance is "accepted payable when in funds."

No. 11.—Day vs. Compton.

This cause was decided here at a previous term; and, this is an application to supply in this court a part of the record which has been lost. Held: That the provisions of the code, allowing lost papers and records to be supplied, applies to causes pending and undetermined, and not to causes ended in this court. Application disallowed, May 27th, 1867.

WANTED—THE PATENT
AURORA OIL.
We want men everywhere to study their own INTEREST. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money to the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your State will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the price of Coal Oil, and the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is as much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to a tallow candle, and is NO MORE explosive than a tallow candle. Any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimney—it does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even white cloth. The material for its manufacture is inexhaustible. One man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery required. We will pay your fare to and from the city of Memphis and bills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right to a State is untold worth.

Further, we hope you will, for the carriers' convenience, erect boxes at your gates, or cut holes in your doors, that the papers may be placed so that none but yourselves can get them, as Memphis is now infested with paper thieves.

READ, EVERYBODY.—Tickets in the first drawing of the Southern Asylum, by which the cheapest property on its lists will be disposed of, will be sold up to the 10th of June, when the books will be closed. Order tickets through the office on the east side of Court square. For the convenience of the public the office will hereafter be kept open till seven o'clock in the evening.

THE Enterprise base ball club have a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock p.m.

LOVE.—Thos. Love, who does not practice what his name teaches, was locked up last night, charged with the now (becoming too) common crime of whipping his wife.

BLACK THIEVING.—A negro boy went to the pic nic yesterday for the profit as well as pleasure, as he was detected in stealing about $500 from a colored sister. Col. Beaumont arrested him and furnished him with lodgings at one of his hotels. The boy will probably be handed over to a justice to-day.

HOTEL CHANGE.—We learn that C. B. Gallaway, Esq., formerly one of the proprietors of the Overton hotel, takes charge of the Worsham house to-day. We wish the new proprietor of this old, popular and well-tried house, all the success his energies deserve, and should our wishes be fulfilled he will have no cause of complaint.

CRIMINAL AFFAIRS.—Criminal matters at the police and justices' courts yesterday were extremely dull, no arrests having been made at the first district up to four o'clock, and not a criminal case before a magistrate that we could learn of. Memphis is either becoming very much improved in morals, or the police remiss in the discharge of their duty. Which is it? We hope the former.

GIVEN UP.—A white man named S. T. Hall, who was "sent up" by 'Squire Moore some time since, on a charge of horse stealing, but afterwards got out on bond, was recommitted yesterday. He attempted to get away, when his securities got wind of the affair, and gave him up to the authorities. He was sent back to the hotel kept by the county on Adams street.

THE COLORED PIC NIC.—The pic nic of the colored schools at Bartlett's Station yesterday was attended by about three thousand five hundred persons. Everything passed off pleasantly. Speeches were made by Rev. Mr. Bliss and Gen. Eaton, and also by H. C. Carter and J. F. Harris, colored. Owing to the excellent management of Samuel B. Jones, Esq., superintendent of the Memphis and Ohio railroad, no accident occurred.

SENT BACK.—A white man named Wm. Halloway, who has been in jail here for nearly two years, and was sentenced to eleven years imprisonment in the penitentiary for murder, has been granted a new trial by the supreme court, now in session at Jackson. He has again taken up his old quarters. Squire Wynn, a negro who has been in for about eight months, and had also received sentence from the criminal court, was also granted a new trial.

A BRUTE.—A great burly fellow, who gave his name as Thomas Reily, was arrested last night, charged with assault. On inquiry we find that he is a man of family, and resides in that classic locality known as "Happy Hollow;" that he turned his family out of doors yesterday morning and kept them out all day. Not satisfied with this, he vented his brutality farther by cutting his daughter in the face with a pocket knife. He will be tried this morning.

THE TABERNACLE FAIR.—The attendance at the Tabernacle last night, although very good, was not so numerous as on the night previous. Several laughable scenes took place, such as voting a handsome cake to the ugliest man in the house, (we won't, in pity, give his name) etc. We were unable to get the voting on the silver service to the most popular hotel, or the life insurance policy to the most gallant soldier. The fair must have proved all its friends expected.

THE HOP AT THE GREENLAW.—The social hop which came off on Thursday night was a brilliant affair. The attendance, though not large, was very select, and of course sociable and agreeable. The various committees exerted themselves to make all feel at home, and right well did they succeed. The impromptu supper was well gotten up and heartily partaken of. Dancing was kept up till a late hour, and few of that gay company will soon forget the social hop at the Greenlaw, Thursday night.

THE PLANTERS.—In another column will be found the card of the Planters' insurance company, of which Gen. N. B. Forrest is president, Frank P. Dougherty, treasurer, and W. H. Deadrick, secretary. With the skillful general at its head, and the reliable Frank Dougherty to care for the funds, and W. H. Deadrick, with his long experience in the insurance business, to manage the books, the Planters' insurance company must prove a success. It is a home institution!

A DARING BURGLARY.—Some daring thief, who must have had some pluck as well as a vast deal of rascality, entered the residence of Mr. Joseph King, on the corner of Linden and Shelby streets, at an early hour yesterday morning, and took therefrom a trunk which contained a gold watch, about $150 in specie and a quantity of wearing apparel. The trunk and contents, minus the money and watch, was discovered near by, by officer Castle, yesterday morning. The deed must have been committed by some person well acquainted with the premises.

LOST.—In our strolls yesterday through the streets in quest of items, our attention was directed to a bevy of fine and fashionably dressed ladies who seemed to be lost, judging from their uneasy manner and the close scrutiny they gave the signs over our principal dry goods houses along Main street. Seeing their bewilderment we made bold, as every single man should, to inquire the object of their search, and also to offer our services in conducting them to the goal of their travels. We were politely informed that they had heard that Messrs. J. H. Loewenstine & Bro. would open their mammoth retail store to-day, and were determined to sell goods even below New York cost. We escorted them to No. 231 Main street, Clay building, and having received their thanks, and an earnest assurance of grateful remembrance in the future, we left them, in connection with about a dozen other ladies, admiring the rich, rare and beautiful display of goods on exhibition in the capacious salesrooms of this establishment. These gentlemen offer their immense stock of dry goods, furnishing goods of every description, boots, shoes, hats, etc., at prices which they believe will defy competition. Don't take our word for it, but go and see.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF MAYOR AND ALDERMEN.

MAIN, POPLAR, JEFFERSON AND BEAL STREETS TO BE PAVED.

Three Important Ordinances Passed.

Interesting and Lively Discussion, Etc., Etc.

An adjourned meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen was held at the Exchange building yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, for the purpose of hearing the report of the finance committee, to whom had been referred the mayor's message on pavements.

Present—Hon. Mayor Lofland, Chairman Hulbert, Aldermen Glancy, Cochran, Johnson, Amis, Lynn, Holst, Shaw, O'Donnell, Townsend, Smith, Passmore. The chairman stated the object of the meeting.

Alderman Lynn, from the finance committee, submitted the ordinance referred to them as filled up, which reads as follows:

PAVING STREETS.

By Alderman Townsend:

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Memphis:

SECTION 1. That there shall be issued city bonds, with interest coupons attached, to the amount of $900,000, for the purpose of paving the streets and alleys of the city, and which shall be denominated "paving bonds."

Sec. 2. A board of three trustees shall be appointed by the mayor, with the advice and consent of the board of aldermen, to be called the "bond trustees," and who shall be appointed to serve until January, 1869, 1870 and 1874, and they shall be eligible to re-election, the term of service of each to be determined by lot.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of said board of trustees to receive such portion of the revenue of the city as shall be paid them by the city treasurer, and to disburse the same in the following manner: 1. To pay the interest on the bonds herein provided to be issued, as the same becomes due. 2. To invest any balance on hand in the bonds themselves at their market value, and to return the bonds and coupons thus retired to the city controller, who shall cancel the same.

Sec. 3. The city treasurer shall pay over weekly to said bond trustees one-sixth of his receipts from revenue, beginning on the second Tuesday in January, 1868, and continuing until the sum of $—— shall have been paid.

Sec. 5. Said trustees shall each enter into bond in the penal sum of $—— for the faithful discharge of the duties prescribed in this ordinance, and shall receive for compensation such salary as shall be allowed by the board of aldermen.

Sec. 6. At least five days after the final passage of this ordinance the mayor shall, by proclamation, order an election to test the sense of the qualified voters of the city of Memphis as to the issuance of the amount of paving bonds provided for by this ordinance in accordance with the provisions of the city charter.

Passed a second and final reading.

Alderman Lynn, in the same connection, offered the following ordinance:

Be it ordained, etc., That the ordinance passed December 18th, 1866, providing for the paving of sundry streets of the city with the Nicolson pavement, be and the same is hereby so amended as to embrace the following streets, to-wit: DeSoto street, from Madison to South street, and Old Madison street from the bayou bridge to Charleston avenue.

Sec. 2. That the mayor be and is hereby authorized to advertise for twenty days for proposals to pave with the Nicolson pavement Main street, Poplar street, Jefferson street, Beal street out to DeSoto street, DeSoto street, Shelby street, Old Madison street and Charleston avenue, payment for the work to be made with city six per cent. bonds, with coupons attached, having five, ten and fifteen years to mature, the ultimate payment of the said bonds to be guaranteed by a sinking fund provided for the purpose.

Alderman Townsend wanted DeSoto street paved.

Alderman Smith desired that Beal street should be paved.

Alderman Glancy wanted Market street to be paved from the bayou to Main street.

Alderman Lynn thought the ordinance as it stood covered all the principal streets, and was of opinion that work enough had been marked out for the city to perform this summer.

Alderman Passmore, although in favor of paving all the streets in the city, was opposed to paving any street upon which the street railroad was laid, unless the property holders on such streets petitioned to have the work done. He did not want the city to be involved in law suits.

Alderman Smith agreed with Alderman Passmore.

Alderman Shaw was in favor of the ordinance as it was offered. He thought that in time all the streets would be paved; that the people would like it so well that they would not do without it.

Alderman Lynn accepted an amendment offered by Alderman Townsend as to DeSoto street.

Alderman Townsend thought that the ordinance as amended should pass, and showed that in the cost of drayage alone about $190,000, and $50,000 in stock would be saved. By going on with the paving, the whole of the city scrip would be absorbed, thereby increasing the credit of the city forty per cent., and in two years the city would save the cost of the entire pavement.

The mayor thought the suggestion not to pave that portion of Beal street beyond DeSoto which was unfit for paving was a good one. As to Main street, he was in favor of paving Main street, railroad or no railroad; tear it up and put down the pavement, and if the railroad company desired to put down the road in accordance with their charter let them do so, but Main street was of too much importance to be passed by. He was in favor of paving Market street, but he did not think it judicious to do so at present.

Alderman Townsend knew that the city had the power to remove nuisances, and this railroad had been declared one by the board.

Alderman Passmore wanted to be sure that the property owners would pay their portion.

Alderman Lynn stated that the railroad were willing to make a fair and reasonable compromise in the premises, and he thought that now was the best time to do it. He did not favor the paving Market street at present.

Alderman Glancy withdrew his Market street measure, and expressed himself strongly in favor of paving Main street and tearing up the railroad.

Alderman Passmore wanted to know upon what terms a compromise could be effected.

Alderman Lynn: I assure the gentleman that the president of the city railroad is prepared to make a compromise favorable to the city. The ordinance then passed a first reading by the following vote: Yeas—Glancy, Johnson, Cochran, Amis, Lynn, Holst, O'Donnell, Shaw Townsend and Smith. Nays: Alderman Passmore.

On motion of Alderman Lynn, the rules were suspended and the ordinance passed to a second and final reading.

Alderman Lynn then offered the following ordinance:

Be it ordained by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen:

SECTION 1. That a tax of $10 68 per foot be, and the same is hereby levied and assessed, upon all lots or parts of lots fronting on each side of Second street, from Auction to Beal streets, and upon each side of Adams street from Front street to the corporation line on the east.

Sec. 2. That a tax of $10 65 per foot front be, and the same is hereby levied and assessed, upon all lots fronting on each side of Madison street from Front street eastwardly to the Charleston railroad bridge.

Sec. 3. That a tax of $10 68 per foot front be, and the same is hereby levied and assessed, upon all lots fronting on each side of Union street from Front street to bayou Gayoso, and a tax of $7 83 per foot lineal on all lots on each side of said street from bayou Gayoso eastwardly.

Sec. 4. The said tax, as above provided for, to be for the purpose of paying for all the expenses incurred, curbing excepted, in paving said streets with the Nicolson pavement contracted for with Taylor, McBain & Co., under date of March, 1867.

Sec. 5. That an additional tax of $1 60 per foot front be, and the same is hereby levied and assessed, upon all lots fronting on each side of the streets above mentioned, for paying for the laying down of new stone curbing, in connection with the pavement of the same with said Nicolson pavement, provided, however, that twenty-five cents per foot shall be collected in all cases where curbing has been reset only.

Sec. 6. That the tax above provided for shall be, and the same is hereby made due and payable as follows: Upon the completion of each section of the pavement, of not less than 375 nor more than 400 feet, and one-half the tax assessed shall be paid in cash, and equal notes executed for the balance due, and payable thirty, sixty and ninety days from date, the said cash payment and notes to be made and delivered to any one duly authorized by contractor or otherwise to receive the same.

The mayor explained that the ordinance was in accordance with the amended charter, and it was necessary that the ordinance should pass, that the contracts might be fulfilled.

Passed a first reading. On motion the rules were suspended, and it passed a second and final reading.

Alderman Shaw presented a resolution to the effect that the board meet at three instead of 7 o'clock p.m.

Alderman Amis offered an amendment that they meet at 4 p.m., weekly, instead of semi-monthly.

Alderman Johnson offered and amendment to the amendment that they meet at 2 p.m., and that monthly.

After the usual amount of discussion, both amendments were withdrawn and the original motion passed. On motion, the board adjourned.

S. R. CLARK & CO.—It affords us much pleasure to call the attention of our readers to the card of the above copartnership for the transaction of a general fire, marine and life insurance company. We have known the gentlemen comprising the firm for many years, and do most unhesitatingly recommend them to our merchants and our planters generally, as not only worthy of their patronage, but as representing companies equally worthy of the talent and good name of their agents representing them. S. R. Clark was formerly president of the American Insurance company of St. Louis, which enviable and lucrative position he gave up to follow the fortunes of his fellow-soldiers of the south. Gen. Colton Greene also abandoned a prosperous business, like his friend Clark, in St. Louis to embrace a cause which raised him to the honorable position of brigadier general, and our friend W. R. Lucas went from our midst bringing back with him all the esteem he left with, besides the satisfaction of having performed his duty for his country. We wish them every success, and hope the patronage they so richly deserve may compensate them fully for the sacrifices they have made. The companies they represent are fortunate in having secured the services of gentlemen who combine so much popularity with capacity to represent their interests.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of a visit yesterday from Dr. J. W. Harmon, representing the Enterprise East Mississippi Relief society, who is duly accredited by Gov. Humphreys under the great seal of the state, and therefore entitled to the confidence and consideration of the charitably disposed in Memphis. He is seeking aid in behalf of the destitute and suffering poor of Mississippi—a neighboring sister state—and an appeal thence should command all possible generosity from our citizens. Second-hand clothing and unsaleable goods of any description can be used and will be most thankfully received. It is hoped this appeal of Dr. Harmon will meet with a generous response from our citizens. It is certainly a project most praiseworthy, which commends itself to every one.

A RUNAWAY.—About eight o'clock last night young Dr. Erskine was driving up Beal street, when, reaching Hernando, his horse became very restive and started to run. The doctor attempting to drive round the corner, the buggy struck against the telegraph post; the horse broke, throwing the doctor out, inflicting a rather serious injury in his right thigh. A street car happened to be passing, into which he was put by Capt. Geo. Mellersh and others, who took him to Dr. Farnsworth's drug store, where he was cared for. His friends hope to see him about again in a few days as usual.

TOMBSTONES FOR FEDERAL SOLDIERS.
Two tombstones are lying unclaimed at Royster, Trezevant & Co.'s, 276 Second street, containing the following inscriptions. They were intended for the graves of Federal soldiers, but no one calling for them, they will, unless claimed, be sold for railway charges:

"Henry C. Scoot, died July 8, 1863, aged twenty years and three months, Co. C, 116th Illinois volunteers. Maker: Strohm & Co., Decatur, Ills."

"Randall McDonald, died October 4, 1863, aged forty-four years. Maker: Strohm & Co., Decatur, Ills."

THE organization of Melrose church, near Central park, will take place on Sunday, June 2d, at 3½ o'clock p.m., Dr. Steadman officiating.

THE COURTS.

LAW COURT.—Yesterday was motion day in this court. Motions will be heard, also, to-day, to include motions for judgment by default.

CHANCERY COURT.—Yesterday was the regular motion day in this court.

CIRCUIT COURT.—State of Tennessee vs. Ed. Bartlett, on trial for murder. The defendant plead a discharge from custody, in consequence of having once been tried. After a lengthy argument pro and con, the court overruled the motion. The entire afternoon was spent in taking evidence, which will be finished this morning.

Briggs & Peterson have just received 200,000 bushels of the best Pittsburg Coal. We have removed to No. 11 Madison street, and are ready to fill all orders. We are thankful to the public for the liberal patronage they have bestowed on us, and hope for a continuance of the same. may29tf

The Aurora Oil.—The introduction of this oil is destined to work a great revolution in the lighting world. It possesses many advantages over all other means of light, from the fact that it is much cheaper than gas or coal oil, is free from any offensive smell, and best of all, non-explosive. We have examined it thoroughly, and without hesitation pronounce it superior to anything extant for the purposes for which it is recommended. It is also superior to turpentine for paints, oils and varnishes. The proprietors, Messrs. H. C. Dewitt & Co., have an office at 24 Madison street, but they dispose of state and county rights to manufacture only. Their patent has seventeen years to run. Territory is being sold rapidly, and parties desiring to make money will find this a good investment. Don't forget, 24 Madison street, up stairs. ap21 tf

HEALING OF THE SICK BY THE LAYING ON OF HANDS.

This certifies that I have had Rheumatism for the last eight months; in that time have not been able to walk; could not use my arms nor hands; had to be lifted in and out of bed; in fact, I had not the use of a single joint in my body. This was my condition when I was carried into Drs. Person & Roberts' room at the Overton hotel May 19th, and after not over fifteen minutes' treatment by Dr. Roberts I had the free use of my limbs, and walked without help down stairs and out to the carriage, and to-day—the 24th—after the third treatment, am looking for my husband and children, and have walked one and a half miles, feeling no uneasiness or return of my former aches and pains. I am a poor woman, and have no money to pay the doctor, but hope God will reward him for restoring me to my little ones.

The Battle Fought—The Victory Won! Since the introduction of Petro Oil to the public notice, a most vindictive and relentless warfare has been waged and carried on against it by the dealers in coal oil—but at last they have been compelled to beat an inglorious retreat, and Petro, having conquered all prejudices, stands victorious with all its claims to superiority vindicated. For sale at 258 Second street. A few county rights for sale. may29 1w

The Buntyn HOMESTEAD LANDS FOR SALE.

WE have the pleasure of placing on the market those very desirable and valuable lands, so well known to the community as the Homestead Tract of the late Geraldus Buntyn, Esq., situated at the first station on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, five miles east of the city. The improvements, with about twenty acres of land, have been recently sold to Hume F. Hill, Esq., who now resides upon the premises. The balance of the tract, consisting of about 180 acres, has been laid off in lots varying in size from five to ten acres, fronting upon broad avenues, and laid off so as to secure the greatest amount of comfort. The trains of the Memphis and Charleston railroad afford the opportunity of going in and out of the city, from and to Buntyn's Station, four times a day, so as to make a residence at this point almost as convenient as to live in the city itself.
The choice can now be had of lots wholly or part in original forest, or in field.

In Exchange for City Property.

☞ The executors are directed by the Will to sell this place and invest in city property, and we will receive propositions to exchange for either improved or vacant lots in the city.
To all parties looking for a suburban residence, we do not think any property more desirable can be found. In regard to health, convenience or good neighborhood, within the same distance from the city.
The terms will be made very liberal and easy, and the prices low to parties desirous of buying for occupation. Plans of the subdivision will be shown at our office.

PHYSICIANS.

DR. WM. EVERETT

CAN be found at Rooms No. 5 and 6, Southern House, corner of Main and Beal street, where he is prepared to treat and advise with all ladies having diseases peculiar to their sex. Age and long experience convinces him that all can be relieved, no matter how severe the case, or of how long standing; and above all others he desires those cases which have been PRONOUNCED INCURABLE.

Diseases of children will also receive especial attention.

BE NOT DECEIVED.—READER, if you have had the sad misfortune to contract the accursed disease, known as venerial, in any form, you can be cured (I care not in what stage it may present itself, whether primary, secondary or tertiary), without taking one solitary grain of medicine. After ten years of close investigation and practical experience, I am convinced that internal treatment, for the purpose of effecting a permanent cure of syphilitic diseases is useless, and, that in a large proportion of cases, it absolutely does more harm than good. While under my method of external medication, which is pleasant and agreeable to the patient, I defy competition with any other method known to the medical profession, for speedy and permanent cure—which I guarantee in all cases. In making this important fact known to the public, I wish to state that I am a regular practitioner of medicine; that I am a graduate of the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, Ky., and that my method of treating these diseases has cost years of deep study and close observation.

All diseases of the Ear and Eye treated upon the most improved methods.

OFFICE—No. 33 Monroe street, between Main and Second. Respectfully, G. W. McLOED, M. D. my8-1m.

DR. C. SPIEGEL, graduate of the best medical schools of Europe and the United States, and member of the principal medical societies in those countries, has practiced medicine in Memphis for the last thirteen years, and continues to offer his professional services to the public, in the treatment of all forms of disease upon the most improved European methods. My vast collections of rare medicines and surgical instruments, with a life-long experience in their administration and use, warrants me in claiming a superiority over the more ordinary method of treating diseases, such as CANCER and TUMORS of every description, which I cure by Constitutional treatment exclusively, no operation performed by the knife. Diseases of the Eye, Ear and Skin, Consumption and Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Scrofula, Syphilis, Stricture, Gleet, Gravel, Piles, Dropsy, Fistula in ane; in short, all Chronic Diseases, giving especial attention to FEMALE DISEASES of every description. I am always ready at all times to consult with first-class Physicians, either by letter or in person, upon all diseases pertaining to medicine and surgery. Medicine sent by express to all parts of the world, when desired.

Concentration Gives Strength.

DR. F. B. WALTON TENDERS HIS SERVICES to the public in the treatment of the diseases of females. So obscure are many of these, so capricious in their manifestations, so perfectly do they simulate other diseases, that their true character is often overlooked or mistaken; prominent among these are, Neuralgia Dyspepsia, that condition of the system commonly called Nervous or Rheumatic, and General Debility, this last is too often but a symptom of some insidious disease which is sapping the foundations of life. To become expert in the detection of these and skillful in their treatment, requires more labor and research than the general practitioner can bestow. These facts induced him to devote himself to this branch of the profession exclusively. To those interested he would state that he has had the advantage of the best medical schools and extensive hospitals of America; also a practice of more than twenty years in this his native State and in the tropics, where such diseases most abound. He is permitted also to refer to Drs. Pitman and Hopson, gentlemen who stand deservedly high in the profession. Office, No. 354 Main street. Residence, No. 291 Linden street, Memphis, Tenn. my5 1m.

Trust Sale.

IN pursuance of the provisions of a Trust Deed to me executed by A. Street on 17th day of November, 1859, and which is duly registered in the Register's office of Shelby county, in Book No. 40, Part 1, pages 475, 476 and 477; and also in pursuance of a Consent Decree made by the Hon. William M. Smith, Judge of the Chancery Court of Memphis, on 22d day of April, 1867, in the cause pending in said Court, wherein Charles J. Seay and others are complainants, and A. Street and others are defendants, I will, at the Southwest corner of the intersection of Poplar and Second streets, in Memphis, on the 27th day of June, 1867, between the hours of 10 o'clock a.m. and 3 o'clock p.m. of said day, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, upon the terms hereinafter mentioned, the following described Lots of Land, together with the improvements thereon, situated in Memphis, Shelby county, Tennessee, viz: Being Lots Nos. 269 and 270, as known on the map of Memphis, and bounded as follows: Beginning at the Southwest corner of the intersection of Poplar and Second streets, running thence West with the South line of Poplar street 124¼ feet; thence South parallel with Second street 74¾ feet to a stake; thence West 24¼ feet to an alley; thence with said alley 74¾ feet to the intersection of the alley; thence East with said alley to Second street; thence with Second street 148¾ feet to the beginning. Excepting and excluding, however, from said Lots, that part conveyed and relinquished on the 6th day of March, 1860, by the undersigned and Brinkley & Dougherty, to A. Street, bounded and described as follows, viz: Beginning at the South-east corner of lot No. 269, at the intersection of the North side of the first alley South of Poplar street with the West side of Second street; thence Northwardly with West side of Second street 28 feet, more or less, to a point at which said West side of Second street is intersected by a line running through the center of the middle parallel wall from East to West, of three story brick building, embracing two tenements now in said lot No. 269; thence from said point of intersection Westwardly 148¾ feet to the East side of the first alley, West of Second street; thence with the East side of said last mentioned alley Southwardly, 28 feet more or less, to the point of intersection of the East side of said last mentioned alley, with the North side of the first alley South of Poplar street—said point of intersection being the Southwest corner of lot No. 269; thence eastwardly with the East side of the said last mentioned alley, 148¾ feet, to the beginning.

Said property will be sold on the following terms, viz: One-fourth of the purchase money cash, and the balance on a credit of four and eight months, for which the purchasers will be required to give notes with approved personal security, and a lien likewise to be retained on the property to secure these deferred payments. The equity of redemption is waived, and the title is believed to be perfect, but I shall only convey as trustee.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

APRIL, MAY, AND JUNE.

There are daughters three of the lusty year,
That set my thoughts to the daintiest tune;
Oh! fairest of all, and to me most dear,
The fullest of music, and beauty and cheer,
Are April, and May, and June.

Like a little child coy April seems,
With her fairy hands full of wild wood flowers;
She laughs and shouts in the sun's bright beams,
And dances along with the dancing streams,
And weeps in the silvery showers.

Sweet May is a maiden blithe and fair,
With dreamy eyes like the blue above;
She watches the birds as they build and pair—
The flowers and the fruits she guards with care,
And her heart it throbs with love.

But June, warm June, is a matron crowned
With a woven wreath of the lilly and rose;
With a liberal hand she throws around
Largest of blessings, and joys abound
And the horn of Plenty o'erflows.

I thank Thee, Lord of the lusty year,
With a grateful spirit, both late and soon,
For all the music, and beauty, and cheer,
Thou sendest down to Thy creatures here,
With April, and May, and June.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND BUSINESS.

The weather was pleasant yesterday, and business tolerably active on the levee.

The rise continues at the rate of eight inches per day. At St. Louis the river is swelling fast, with twenty feet to Cairo. The Ohio is rising also, very fast, from Pittsburg down. The late rains have been very general throughout the north and have reached the mountains, causing the snow to melt and the upper Missouri is rising rapidly. By telegraph from Virginia City, Montana, we learn that the rain there had poured down without intermission during the 27th and 28th ult., causing much damage. At this point the river is about eight feet below high water mark of this spring.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Gleaner, Capt. King, goes out for Arkansas river this evening sure, at 5 o'clock.

The Marble City will leave in charge of Capt. Tschudi for Cairo and St. Louis at 5 p.m. this day.

The Mary Swan, Capt. Hukill, leaves for Evansville this day at 5 p.m.

The Anna, Capt. Shinkle, will get off for Cincinnati this day at 5 p.m.

The Minneola, Capt. Miller, will go out for Cincinnati this evening at the usual hour.

The fine packet Great Republic will be in port to-day, and will leave at 5 p.m. for the Crescent City, taking all freight and passengers for Vicksburg and intermediate landings. The grandeur and magnificence of the Republic is already of world wide notoriety. Capt. W. B. Donaldson is her commander, and is a careful officer. Capts. Dravo and Barr, her clerks, are assiduous in their attention to passengers, and are too well known to need especial praise. Mr. Morgan, her steward, is au fait in his art.

The gay little Victor No. 2, of which Capt. Rouse is master and Messrs. Grehan and Whitehead are clerks, will leave to-day at 5 p.m. for Haile's Point and way landings.

Our friend McDonald, of the Star wharfboat, was delighted with his visit to St. Louis. He became stage-struck while there, and is yet frequently heard repeating passages from the "Black Crook."

Mr. John Sullivan took passage on the Richmond yesterday, for Helena, to see after such freight as was saved from the Albert Pearce.

The yachts Fleetwing, Henrietta and Vesta have returned to New York.

We learn that the Dan. Able has been chartered for the use of the typographical convention, which meets in this city next week. She will be in port to leave on Thursday next, and from indications yesterday, had better remain until then, as freights and people are scarce. She might be profitably employed as an excursion boat this summer.

There is no White river packet to-day. A large amount of freight is awaiting shipment for that quarter.

Mr. L. W. Rawley, of the Houston Telegraph, with his family, passed down yesterday on the Richmond.

Capt. Flem. Calvert, of the Memphis and St. Louis packet company, went north yesterday on the City of Cairo.

There has been corn lying upon our landing for many days, which could not be removed on account of the rain. The wharfmaster notified consignees that it must be removed to day.

Capt. John Smoker is in Louisville negotiating for a first class packet for the New Orleans and Red river trade.

The towboat Alps is preparing to move out from Louisville with an immense tow of twenty barges and boats of coal, all for New Orleans, which will be the largest tow ever brought out by one tow boat.

The Norman is loading at Louisville for this port and is receiving heavy consignments, including 1400 sacks corn.

The late rise in the Kentucky river is rapidly running out, while the Wabash is high and rising, threatening an overflow.

From present indications it seems that the Louisville boat builders will have a heavy run of business this fall.

The Richmond arrived early yesterday morning. She had on board some 1200 tons of freight and added 1500 sacks of corn, some cotton and other things at this port and left at 5 p.m. for New Orleans.

At the regular meeting of the steamboat captain's Union Benevolent association of New Orleans, held at their rooms a few days ago, the following gentlemen were elected for the ensuing year: Capt. J. B. Woods, president; Capt. C. T. Reeder, secretary; Capt. John E. Hyde, treasurer. The association is represented to be in a very flourishing condition.

Mr. Billings says; Rize arly, work hard and late, live on what you can't sell, give nothing awa, and if you don't die ritch, and go to the devil, yu may sue me for damages.

A young friend of ours who checks freight on a local packet intended to stop off this trip and spend a few days in the society of a White river belle, but in consequence of a remark made by the lady, it is probable that he will be in port Sunday night. He told her she "would be very handsome were her eyes a little larger" to which she replied, "My eyes may be small, but such people as you don't fill them."

"Does the court understand you to say, that you saw the river reporter of the Avalanche intoxicated?" "Not at all, sir, I merely said that I have frequently seen him so flurried that he would endeavor to cut out copy with the snuffers, that's all."

From the officers of the Judge Fletcher, arrived yesterday, we learn, says the N. O. Crescent, that there was a large rise in the Ouachita river; there had been heavy rains for three or four days. The present prospect is that the whole Ouachita country will be again overflowed.

C. H. Merry, of Dubuque, has under contract the building of twenty bulk barges on the Ohio river, with a capacity varying from twenty to twenty-five thousand bushels, which will be ready for the fall business. Each barge will contain a steam engine and an elevator. The elevator will have a discharging capacity of 2500 bushels per hour, and be capable of emptying grain into any sized vessel at New Orleans, or cars along the river bank. Another improvement is in the construction of shovels worked by machinery to bring the grain from each end of the boat to the center, where it comes in contact with the elevator and is hoisted out.

The western transportation company will run this season twelve screw steamers of an aggregate tonnage of nearly 10,000 tons between Buffalo, Chicago, Milwaukee and Racine. The Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago line will run eleven steamers, of about 8400 tons, between Buffalo, Sheboygan, Milwaukee, Racine and Cleveland. The Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo and Sandusky line will run thirteen steamers, of about 9800 tons, between Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo, Sandusky, Detroit and Green Bay. Evans' line will run six steamers, of about 4000 tons, between Buffalo, Chicago, Milwaukee, Racine and Detroit. Chas. W. Ensign will run two new vessels, of 1200 tons each, between Chicago and Buffalo.

The Little Hamilton is a new boat built at Cincinnati. She will be completed in about three weeks. She was built expressly for freighting and towing lumber on the Arkansas river.

The Memphis packet company carry corn from St. Louis to this port at twenty-five cents per sack.

The St. Louis Times of Thursday says: The weather yesterday was warm and pleasant, with indications of more rain. Business on the levee is generally dull. The Missouri river, Memphis, Vicksburg and upper Mississippi trades are fair, but by no means brisk. The New Orleans trade is distressingly dull. The river at this point rose fifteen inches Tuesday night, and two and half inches yesterday. The upper Mississippi is reported about at a stand, and dispatches state that the Missouri was falling yesterday at Lexington. The Illinois is reported as rising rapidly. There have been heavy rains in all the upper country, and we may expect a still further, and perhaps disastrous rise in the river here.

—Carrie Bell Sinclair, of Augusta, Ga., has published a volume of poems under the title of "Heart Whispers."

FINANCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, May 31, 1867.

We find little change in local finances. Exchange is in large supply, with but a moderate demand. Eastern sight is bought at ¼ off, and sold at ¼ to ½ premium. A few transactions among bankers are reported at easier rates, but to customers these are the prevailing figures. New Orleans exchange is buying at ½ discount, and selling at par.

Gold opened in New York at 36⅝c, and at 12:30 it had advanced to 37⅛c. The buying rate here during the day was 35½c. Selling at 36½c. Very few large lots have been offered.

Silver continues at 27 to 28c buying. Selling at 30c.

City scrip is in good demand at 56 to 57c buying. Selling at 60c, with few brokers offering for sale.

County scrip is firm at 88c buying. Selling at 90c.

Police scrip is looked on with more favor, and is in demand at 75 to 77c buying. Selling at 80 to 82c.

Bonds and stocks are dull and nominal. Very few of them are in favor. Memphis and Ohio railroad bonds, no sale; Memphis and Little Rock first mortgage bonds, no sale; Memphis and Charleston railroad bonds, 70c; Tennessee bonds, with coupons, 65 to 70c; Tennessee bonds, new, 65 to 70c; Mobile and Ohio railroad bonds, no sale; Memphis city coupons, 52 to 53c; Memphis city railroad stock, 30c.

There is but light demand for uncurrent money. Tennessee notes are firm as follows:

The New Orleans Bulletin says, of the recent arrest of Jacob Barker of that city, whose failure we announced a few days ago: Jacob Barker, the banker, was arrested yesterday on an affidavit made by Alderman Pat. H. Cummings, charging him with embezzlement and fraud. Mr. Cummings had deposited in the Bank of Commerce, at the date of its failure, the sum of $8000. We are not fully informed as to the merits of this case, and can give no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of Mr. Barker. The case has been fixed for preliminary examination before Recorder Ahern on the 6th of June next, and Mr. Barker gave bonds in the sum of $10,000 to appear.

The August 7-30s are fast passing into long bonds, and at their maurtity few will pass into "debt matured and not presented for payment." It may as well be understood that all 7-30s not presented for funding at maturity, and all compound notes not presented at maturity, will take this direction and interest cease upon them. The assistant treasurer is now ready to pay the compounds at par and accrued compound interest to the date of presentation, and not at their face value at maturity. The funding process in all its details is proceeding with eminent success, and there is no reason to doubt that prior to maturity any currency obligation bearing interest will pass into long bonds.

The state treasurer of Minnesota has issued bids for a state loan of $100,000, under an act of the last legislature, but he finds "Jordan a hard road to travel." Those old unpaid bonds are in the way.

Of the $27,000,000, or thereabouts, of postal currency, about $1,500,000 is in circulation in New York, and of this amount it is estimated that at least one-third is counterfeit. This counterfeit currency circulates as readily from hand to hand as the genuine paper, for it is well executed—and moreover, according to the testimony of a notorious counterfeiter, the circulation is under the especial protection of the police, who are said to receive 10 per cent. of the entire issue. This, on the half-million of bogus postal currency in circulation in that city, would be $50,000—which is a very handsome black mail bonus for this single minor "industry" to pay for a license.

Gov. Patton has made arrangements for the payment, in New York and London, of the total interest on the state debt of Alabama up to July 1st. The May interest, amounting to $64,731, is already paid; the interest accruing in June and July has been forwarded. The aggregate in coin is [illegible].

COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, May 31, 1867, 8 p.m.

GENERAL BUSINESS.

There was but little doing in the general markets to-day. Outside the local trade there may, in fact, be said to be nothing doing. Notwithstanding this dullness there are property holders in this city so blind to their own interests and those of the entire community, as to exact the same rents which they received in prosperous times. Any man of ordinary intellect must see that such a course at this time is doing to the business of our city incalculable injury. It is evidenced in the number of houses and stores now labeled "for rent" upon our principal streets, and should these owning property continue to pursue this—to call it a mild term—insane policy, there will, we fear, be many more untenanted before next fall's trade.

COTTON—The market has been very active to-day, and some heavy sales were made at an advance of from ½ to 1c on our yesterday's figures. The sales comprise all grades from dogtail to strict middling. We question whether a full table of middling could be bought at our quotations, as we learned of one sale at 25½c. The Liverpool market is quoted quiet and firm, with sales of 15,000 bales for the day, and 82,000 for the week. The stock on hand is 811,000 bales, of which 444,000 is American. At this port the receipts to-day were 135 bales; shipments, none. The receipts for the month of May were 5508 bales, and shipments during the same time, 13051 bales. The market closed excited and firm.

A New York paper has a long article on the illicit manufacture of whisky, which is now sold openly in New York for $1 15 and $1 30 per gallon, although the tax alone (if paid) would be $2, not to speak of the cost of making the stuff. The writer attempts to prove that a great deal of liquor is made in the southern states. This is quite probable, but it is not denied, also, that there is plenty of cheating going on in New York, and in fact in all the northern cities, both among the distillers and revenue officers, who are continually getting into trouble in spite of their sharpness. It is quite certain that the action of the last congress on this subject did nothing at all to remedy the evil.

Unless we are mistaken in the drift of public sentiment, strikes are falling into disfavor as a means of securing for labor its proper share of the joint profits of labor and capital. They are found to involve more of loss and suffering than is compensated by the very doubtful chance of success which they offer. The more thoughtful and considerate friends of labor are beginning to regard the system of co-operative associations as far better calculated to secure the end at which they aim,—and we believe that the more that system is studied and tried practically, the more general will this conviction become. In England it has been practiced with success for many years, and a recently published statistical work on the subject published at Berlin, states that in Germany there are already co-operate societies numbering 350,000 members, with yearly returns of eighty-five millions of thalers. Such results encourage imitation. We are glad to see that the principle is making progress in this country.

Collector Crane, of the Fifth North Carolina district, reports that during the past week he has seized twenty distilleries engaged in the illicit manufacture of whisky and apple brandy. The collector who preceded Mr. Crane was in office nearly a year and made but one seizure during that time. From the large number of distilleries seized throughout the country and few convictions, we are lead to believe that many are closed without just cause.

No. 1.
THE CHINGARORA
ANTI-NERVOUS
SMOKING TOBACCO!
THE CHINGARORA TOBACCO grows from the rich soil of the "ORIENT," and is possessed of a peculiarly delicious flavor entirely unknown to the tobaccos of all other climes. But its unprecedented popularity has sprung from the fact of the entire absence of that deadly poison Nicotin, which permeates every other tobacco, and which is the one and sole cause of the distressing nervous diseases, dyspepsia, etc., which most invariably, sooner or later, follow the indulgence of the pipe and cigar. At the recent analyzation of tobacco from all parts of the world, at the Academy of Sciences, in Paris, the renowned chemist, M. Lamoureaux, declared that while European and American tobacco contained fully eight per cent., and the purest Havana tobacco from two to five per cent of Nicotin, the CHINGARORA did not contain one discoverable particle of that deadly poison, a drop of which, extracted, will destroy life.
Our agent at BOMBAY has shipped us large quantities of the CHINGARORA during the past two years, and although we have been pressed to supply the demand for this delicious luxury to the veteran smoker, yet we are now prepared to offer it in unlimited quantities, at a price much lower than some American tobacco of a far inferior quality.
A connoisseur has but to smoke the American tobacco and cigars, which are invariably chemically flavored, to be disgusted with the medicinal taste which leaves a nauseous, unhealthy coating in the mouth, and in time seldom fails to shatter the nervous system.
The natives of the "ORIENT" smoke the CHINGARORA from morn till night, from youth to age, and are happily unconscious of the wild, distressing fire which courses through the veins of the inhaler of the fumes of tobacco containing Nicotin.
We invite every lover of the weed to try the CHINGARORA, and guarantee unprecedented pleasure in its delicious flavor.
Sold everywhere at $1 a pound.
